

European Action
on Drugs (EAD)

EURAD
EUROPE AGAINST DRUGS

Fundatia Umanitara a Copiilor din Romania

Conferinta Anti – Drog si Workshop-uri
Interactive pentru tineri – DOROHOI 2011

in colaborare cu Primaria Dorohoi, Consiliul local Dorohoi, Politia Municipala Dorohoi si Seminarul Teologic
“SF Ioan Iacob” Dorohoi

Fii destept si evita drogurile!

NO drugs are safe drugs!

There are no easy or safe drugs that one can consume was the message to young people and parents at the RCHF Botosani County –Dorohoi 2011 anti drug conference and workshop. Today sadly the drug criminals who entice all to easily young people into the seedy World of drug abuse by well applied means including stating certain types of drugs are “easy” or safe drugs, which will not harm you must be stopped on all fronts to protect young people. Within RCHF we make young people and parents aware of the dangers to young peoples lives as far too many lives have been lost to drug abuse.

Addiction to illegal drugs hits the young user who is often enticed innocently to try a joint all too easily and from then on the life is ruined. Drug abuse affects not only the person involved, but families and whole communities.

RCHF in collaboration with “EAD”, “EURAD” and “Drug Free Scotland” is raising awareness of drug abuse in Romania in a series of conferences and interactive workshops for young people with parents also welcome to attend – the first being in the Botosani County town of Dorohoi close to the Ukrainian border where both human trafficking, trafficking of contraband and drug abuse are a problem.

Conferences which start with a series of speeches about the subject of drug abuse and how all too easily once can become the next victim by a panel of chosen guests including local authorities and the Romanian Police who all play an important part in combating drug abuse. A PowerPoint presentation from RCHF is also an important part of the conference as displays vividly the dangers of drug abuse. Questions are also answered from the audience and news media in attendance, which is important as further spreads the word that drug abuse is all around us in society today to young people and parents alike.

The conference is followed by an interactive workshop in which the young people are split into groups. They themselves decide on a spokesperson for each individual group. A series of questions relating to both narcotics and lifestyles are given to each group who in turn must find an answer that is agreed by the whole group and the spokesperson then reads out the group answer to the audience, who may challenge the answer.

If the answer of any group is challenged the group then has the opportunity to re-think its decision and come back via the spokesperson to give their final; answer. In this way young people participate and find the correct decision themselves, via the help of their own group, the audience and their peers alike.

Finally at the end RCHF Anti drug brochures are handed out to all who attend the event.

Right to left above. Parents at the Dohoi conference, Brian Douglas in an open question & answer session, RCHF staff hand out anti drug brochures

Young peoples workshop group – RCHF Anti Drug pre event publicity – range of RCHF anti drug brochures

Will you let drugs control your life?

Your life, your society.

Simply say no to drugs.

www.rchf.eu